R.I.V.E.R G.R.I.T We have been exploring some acronyms these past few weeks. One of my favourites is G.R.I.T. (Guts, Resiliency, Integrity, Tenacity) and this was a great one in regards to our cross country run last week. Thanks to everyone who brought some GRIT along with their RIVER values to our cross country afternoon, which meant that the races were successful with a positive community spirit shining through! Huge thanks to Ed Stevens for once again providing a fantastic venue. Another of the acronyms that we have talked about is F.A.I.L. (First Attempt In Learning) and this is being used in all sorts of learning areas. It may help to dispel some anxiety at times if we learn that mistakes are a part of a learning process.

Parent Student Teacher Meetings So far this term teachers have met with nearly all students and support whānau to talk about progress and goals. Thanks for your openness and respect shown for what is happening at school. Please know that we are a team - we have a triangle as our logo to represent families, students and teachers all working together to build a strong structure of learning. At any time that you feel you would like to meet with a teacher, please don't hesitate to contact us and make an appointment. We are here to work with you!

Today our Enviro Leaders have been treated to a visit to the Nelson Museum, learning a little about climate change and the giant squid. This small group of leaders are great ambassadors for Ngatimoti School, and thanks to Mrs Milnes, they are experiencing a range of environmental learning activities.

Speaking of environmental activities, it would be great if many families are able to come along to the tree planting afternoon at the river just along from school, where the significant road works have been happening. This event is being organised by the Motueka Catchment Collective and is being held NEXT Saturday afternoon - further details at the top of page three.

For the third of four environmental learning sessions this Friday from 11am - 12pm, Green House will be learning about some of the Māori perspectives towards nature, Yellow House will be doing insect monitoring, Red House will be doing some planting at Ed Stevens' property and Blue House will be exploring at the stream (bring gumboots if you can, Blue House!)

Marian's Photos A huge thanks to Marian for capturing some fantastic moments from our school activities! Parents, there are an array of photos to look at and you can personally order them from Marian if you wish.

The Reading Together sessions were a good way for parents to think about some strategies for supporting their children to read at home. Thanks to all of you who were able to attend, and special thanks if you have been using any of the strategies! Thanks to Ms Reid and to Emma for all the work you put into making these sessions possible!

Matariki is a time to reflect, show gratitude and make plans for the future. We are hoping to celebrate with a Matariki Disco on Wednesday 22 June in the Indigo Room. This will be in the early evening, and will involve everyone. More details will be available next week.
